

Tile Setting Methods for New Products Specifier Roundtable: Thursday, January 5, 2017

Tile Setting Methods for new products – filling the TCNA Handbook gaps (and more!)

More and more new tile and stone products are appearing in the marketplace. Because of this and changes in technology, setting products and grout are quickly evolving and are becoming more difficult to fit into the standards established by the industry. In addition, there are competing standards that are being used to qualify the properties of these products.

Join us as we take an in depth look as to how our specs need to evolve to take into account the recent changes in Division 09.

Moderated by: Randall Chapple AIA, SE, CSI, CCS, LEED AP
Goettsch Partners

Learning Objectives:

- Explore new tile products and how they affect the specifications.
- Review the various standards that are used to specify setting products and grouts.
- Look at some of the cutting edge materials and how to include them into your specifications.
- Share some lessons learned dealing with stone and tile installations.

Time: Noon – 1 PM

About CSI Specifiers Roundtables: Sessions are held in an informal setting to encourage dialog and attendees are welcome to bring a snack or lunch. Specifier roundtables are a forum for specifiers and architects to discuss specification topics, exchange ideas and share lessons learned. Experienced, as well as new specifiers, are encouraged to attend these small group sessions that require participation and input by attendees.
